THE CHRONICLE AND THE THOROUGHBRED

The Chronicle is the only publication in this country devoted to all Thoroughbred sports—not only to breeding and racing on the flat, but also to steeplechasing, hunting, horse shows, polo, cross country riding and their subdivisions. All these sports employ horses which are Thoroughbred or in which Thoroughbred blood predominates. Even a considerable percentage of children's ponies are Thoroughbred or nearly so.

These sports offer great variety. They appeal quite as much to women as to men—in fact women are equal if not superior to men in many of them. They include people of all ages and of all groups, both social and economic. It follows, therefore, that The Chronicle has an exceptional opportunity for interesting its readers in the Thoroughbred—an opportunity which it endeavors to use to the fullest extent.

We should realize, however, that from the breeders' point of view the horses used in the various allied sports—that is in those other than flat racing—are actually a by-product of the race horse industry. The primary purpose for which Thoroughbred stock has been selected throughout its entire history, covering a period of some 250 years, is to race on the flat. It is the money bet through the pari-mutuel machines and the purses thus financed which are responsible for the flourishing condition of the breed to-day. It is this same source which therefore makes it possible to obtain retired race horses for hunting, polo and horse shows—which makes it possible to secure at moderate cost the services of Thoroughbred stallions suitable to sire horses bred for these other sports. As the supply of horses for such sports is thus largely dependent on the success of flat racing and breeding, The Chronicle gives precedence to the latter and places them first among its features.

As they become less active and make money, or as they find it necessary for tax reasons to change their horse interests from a hobby to a business basis, the sportsmen already interested in the Thoroughbred horse through steeplechasing, hunting, horse shows and polo, turn naturally to the breeding and racing of horses on the flat. People who get into the game through these channels constitute one of the most desirable groups in the racing picture. Not only do they retain a life-long interest in racing but, more important still, they look upon it primarily as a sport. From these same ranks come also a major number of new Thoroughbred breeders—quite understandably since breeders above all must have a real and abiding interest in horses and a willingness to wait for the return of their investment.

It follows that one of the primary purposes of The Chronicle is to recruit new owners and breeders of race horses from the ranks of those interested in other Thoroughbred sports. This purpose is, of course, quite different from that of the other turf journals which do an admirable job supplying technical information to those already launched in the sport, particularly to breeders, trainers and the betting public.

The Chronicle, on the other hand, presents the column which Raleigh Burroughs writes with his own particular light touch, summarising the more important racing events of the past week at all the major tracks, a column designed to appeal to those with a growing interest in flat racing as well as to the already race-minded who are often too busy to keep up to date by reading anything longer. It also runs a regular news section on the activities of breeders, both large and small, from all parts of the country. During the winter months, when the coverage of current sporting events takes up less space, it publishes articles of special interest to owners, trainers and breeders.

The introduction of new blood is as vital to racing as to any other industry, particularly if that new blood is apt to maintain and improve the standards of the sport. The opportunities and efforts of The Chronicle in this respect give the paper its special position in the field of Thoroughbred journalism.

Letters To The Editor

Gains Interest

Dear Sir:

Congratulations to you and The Chronicle staff on your new and improved editions of the paper. It certainly appears to gain interest each week. The articles have all been interesting and the new format makes it a great deal better to read. I particularly enjoy the stud news, and continue to look forward with pleasant anticipation to your paper.

Very truly yours,

Daniel G. Van Clief

Commends Oak Brook

Dear Sir:

I read your "Horse Show" section each week and enjoy the write ups of shows I attend but feel I must comment on the Oak Brook column in the July 10 issue.

The description of the outside course was laughable. I doubt very much if the writer of the article rode over the course as I did and would like to know where all those dangerous fences are.

If my memory serves me right, there were very few riders who hit the dust and no horses down throughout the show, which is something I cannot say for all the other shows with so-called safe jumps. As a matter of fact, all the bad jumps I noted in my program were made over the very common, easy fences such as the brush, gate, and 3'-6" natural rails.

Personally I don't believe anything is as boring as to compete in hunter classes at a show over the same outside course for every class with no more Real Delight got $37,800 for winning the Arlington Matron Handicap in 1952, when the added money was $35,000, but she received only $25,250 for the same accomplishment this year (July 29), even though the endowment was $5,000 more. This is because of the more-for-mediocrity policy that is gaining vogue wherever Calumet campaigns, to keep Mrs. Gene Markey from getting all the money.

When Sickle's Image, Clarence Hartwick's ubiquitous mare, won in '51, first prize was $53,925 and the added money $50,000. The more-money-for-better-horses theme was fashionable then. In the recent renewal, Sickle's Image ran indifferently—maybe the pay cut irked her—and finished last in the seven-horse field.

Two other members of last year's field, besides Real Delight, participated in this running of the mile event. Bella Figura, which ran second a twelvemonth back, finished third and Aesthete was out of the money both times. Fulvous, the only three-year-old in the race, ran third this year.

Real Delight's effort indicates that she is back in top form. Her first start of the year, eleven days before the Matron was a 5½-furlong gallop on the grass in which she finished fourth, nearly eight lengths behind the winner. It was but her second defeat in a career of 13 races. But Ben Jones doesn't worry his pretty head about four-figure purses. If it's important enough for the governor of the state to be in the winner's enclosure, Ben wants to be there too.

The patrons of the course perhaps took cognizance of this as they didn't make Real Delight the odds-on choice in the turf race. She was the favorite, all right, but at the fat odds of 6 to 5. The infinite wisdom of the investors was evidenced in the fact that, when the chips were down, as they would put it, they climbed aboard and took 9 for 10—and got it.

Bull Lea is the sire of Real Delight. The Matron win brings the four-year-old filly's winnings to $261,522. Eddie Arcaro rode her as usual.

Nobody expects the name of the race to predict the future of the participants; no gazelles have developed out of the Gazelle Stakes and performers in the Spring Maiden haven't remained that way forever.

The Arlington Matron Handicap is different. If a breeder is eager to find a successful broodmare, he should grab one of the three top finishers in Arlington Park's one-mile fixture—if past performances mean anything, and that's about all we go by in racing.

Joe Estes, of "The Blood-Horse", must love the Matron, as it is dripping with evidence to prove his contention that quality reproduces quality and to hell with the outstanding exceptions.

Maybe the original idea in staging the race was to bring out mares likely to succeed in production. If so, mission accomplished. Females that have finished first, second and third have contributed grandly in stars and near-stars of the Turf.

Here are a few that pop right out at you, without any eye-punishing research: Blue Delight, dam of All Blue, Real Delight and Bubbley; Unerring, dam of Faultless; Mar-Kell, female parent of Mark-Ye-Well; Alcibiades, Menow's mamma and Traffic Court, mother of Hasty Road. Also, there are War Date, Askmenow, Valenciennes, Shine O'Night, Manie O'Hara, Inscollassie and Pomayya.

Owners of successful broodmares not mentioned are invited to speak up.

Besides Real Delight's two victories, Calumet won the Matron with Good Blood in 1946 and got second money with Mar-Kell ('43), Bewitch ('49) and Wistful ('50). Unerring was trained by Ben Jones, when she ran second, but he was working for Woolford Farm at that time.

Blue Delight belonged to John Marsch when she won.

Oil Capitol stood 18th among the world's leading money winners at the beginning of this year. In winning the Palm Beach, Widener and Ben All Handicaps he moved up to ninth, and now his victory in the Arlington Handicap puts him sixth, $77,814 back of Native Dancer.

He needed 76 races to get where he is, whereas The Dancer did it in 17 tries.

A son of *Mahmoud—*Never Again II, by Pharos, Oil Capitol has disappointed at times, but he has caused jubilation in the barn on many occasions, and you can't get away from that $580,756 he's earned.

The gray was named for Tulsa the "oil capital" of Oklahoma. He first raced for and was named by Tom Grey, whose judgment of horses was better than his spelling. The horse never has been far away from trainer Harry Trotsek, and maybe it was Harry's judgment, rather than Mr. Grey's that influenced the purchase of the colt.

Grey sold a half interest in Oil Capitol to Mr. and Mrs. Allie Reuben of Hasty House Farms and a little later he sold the other half to Trotsek.

Now the horse races for Hasty House Farms and Mrs. H. Trotsek.

Conn McCreary rode Oil Capitol in the Arlington Handicap and performed in what is considered to be "typical McCreary" manner. Coming from last place in the mile-and-three-sixteenths race Oil Capitol collared Sub Fleet in the stretch and won by about half a length. Sub Fleet was second and Brush Burn third.

The Handicap featured Arlington's closing-day program, August 1.

Saratoga-at-Jamaica

This two-year-old business might have been straightened out nicely in the Albany Stakes on July 29, and the youngsters moved to Saratoga with the situation crystallized into something but it didn't happen that way.

They're still beating one another.

Fisherman seemed to have things squared away when he took the Great American, defeating Permian, with Quick Lunch far out of it.

In the six-furlong Albany, the finish was switched around, with Quick Lunch winning and Fisherman winding up well bet and well back.

Before the Albany, Quick Lunch, a son of *Blenheim II—Picnic Lunch, by Requested, had scored in the Tremont and Wakefield Stakes.

He has won five of his eleven races and has earned $34,675 for Wheatley Stable, his owner and breeder.

Permian added another second, making him runner-up five times in nine races. He has won only one maiden event.

Unless something very exciting develops at the Spa, people are going to be saying that maybe the better two-year-olds are in Chicago. We'll find out for sure when the Western ones come East.

Good handicap horses are mighty scarce around New York these days. Without even a Tom Fool or Native Dancer to scare 'em out, the Merchants' and Citizens' Handicap attracted only three starters.

They were One Hitter, Combat Boots and Bit O' Fate, which finished just as Jack Campbell figured they would and the public bet they would.

Combat Boots, with 116 pounds, jumped into an early lead in the mile-and-three-sixteenths race, and had a three-length advantage turning for home, but was unable to withstand the closing charge of Greentree Stable's One Hitter. With Ted Atkinson up, the seven-year-old son of Shut Out—Bold Anna, *by Bold Venture, carried 122 pounds.

Ted drew a very fine line, and if the race had been one of those odd-distance things, like three feet less than a mile and three-sixteenths, he wouldn't have won it.

Bit O' Fate (107 pounds) ran an even third, and earned $2,500 for running around the track.

One Hitter's share was $18,100.

The Merchants' and Citizens' was run on August 1 and closed out Saratoga's run for profit at Jamaica. The rest of the meeting will be for sport, where healing waters bubble freely from Nature's breast—at 20 cents per glass.

Monmouth Park

Monmouth Park's Choice Stakes was the only big test for three-year-olds on Saturday, August 1, and it attracted most of the regulars of the second flight. The first flight had shipped on to Saratoga where he is scheduled to race in the Travers.

James Cox Brady's Landlocked, which won the Lamplighter at the track three weeks earlier, took the Choice and paid a pat $15.60 mutuel.

Alfred Vanderbilt's Beachcomber and E. Constantin's Royal Bay Gem attracted most of the money, but got very little of it, with Beachcomber finishing fourth and Royal Bay Gem fifth.

Under the veteran Jimmy Stout, whose success in New Jersey has become traditional, Landlocked broke on top, shook off Scimitar and Isasmoothie and withstood a drive from the longshot Ride M Cowboy, which got second money.

Ram o' War, which stands around like a fire horse looking for a place to run, was on hand as usual and got $2,500 for finishing third. This is about what he would be paid for taking an allowance race and enjoys the satisfaction of being in good company.

Beachcomber seems to be a sort of hard-luck horse. Again as in the Saranac, it appeared that he might have been the best. He broke slowly and then moved into close quarters right at the time when he should have been running "free".

Royal Bay Gem also might have done better with more room to run.

Landlocked's share of the purse in the mile-and-one-eighth race was $21,550. The gelding was bred by Mr. Brady; he is by *Priam II—Oasis, by Lucullite. Bobby Dotter is his trainer.

The $25,000 Miss Woodford Stakes, at Monmouth on the last day of July, attracted a dozen fair-to-good three-year-old fillies and proved to be a lollapalooza of a horse race, with the sixth finisher being but about a length and one-half behind the first.

Greentree sent down from New York a filly named My Sin and a jockey named Atkinson, and that was the winning combination, with all of Atkinson's skill being required to triumph in the grim battle to the wire.

Circle M Farm's Revolve started slowly but was closing fast on the leader to get second money and Brookmeade's Tritium also came fast in the late stages to make third place.

My Sin, by Devil Diver—*Old Melody II, by *Sir Gallahad III, has won five of her eight races this year and been second once. The Miss Woodford was her first stakes victory. The purse of $17,750 more than doubled her lifetime earnings, bringing the total to $33,970.

As the breeding would indicate, she is a product of Greentree Stud, Inc.

King Commander Captures Midsummer Hurdle 'Cap To Close Monmouth's Most Successful Season

Priscilla J. Mitchell

Highlighted by the third running of the $10,000 added Midsummer Hurdle Handicap, Monmouth Park closed its most successful session of hurdle racing on Friday, August 31. Luring 22 nominees, the handicap had 16 named through the entry box and of this number, 13 accepted the issue at post time. The high acceptance gave Monmouth Park top honors for offering the best hurdle race run this year and reflected the handicapping of Chris Wood, Jr., Monmouth's director of hurdle racing.

By virtue of a nose decision, Lawrence R. Troiano's King Commander captured the 1¼ mile test and picked up a net sum of $7,975 for his sterling performance. Bobbling the last fence, the Sanford Stud Farm's Mackville faltered on landing, and though he put up a game finish under Jason Eaby he could not outgame the winner. The latter was carrying top weight of 148 and finished some 5 lengths in front of Allison Stern's War Rhodes, who carried the second highweight assignment of 147, a poundage that was also allotted Fulton, a stablemate of Mackville.

Despite the bulky field, starter Eddie Blind got them off to a perfect start and James F. McHugh's River Jordan under Earl Phelps immediately forged to the front. Not holding a commanding lead, the pair led the field until approaching the fifth obstacle, at this point Fulton responded to "Dooley" Adams and took over the lead. This pair held sway for two fences and gave way to River Jordan again on approaching the 8th hurdle. The latter led over this fence, with Fulton faltering after "carrying-the-mail" for his stablemate, Mackville, which entered contention at this point.

Answering Eaby's urging, Mackville went to the front and led over the 9th and 10th fences with King Commander in close attendance. A length to the good of the eventual winner over the 10th and last hurdle, Mackville bobbed slightly and landed off balance, permitting King Commander to gain the lead. Cleverly handled by Eaby, the Sanford Stud standard-bearer was straightened away quickly and was closing on the winner as they coasted under the wire noses apart. War Rhodes, closing ground, finished third with 2 lengths separating him from the tiring River Jordan. The winner's time over a fast course was 3:22 1/5.

Anticipating a large field for the Midsummer, Monmouth officials had the course widened on the morning of the race and it proved adequate for the occasion. The course was further graced by the appearance of Kent Miller's Elkridge. Now serving as a lead pony at the age of 15, the "King of the 'Chasers'", which earned a gross sum of $235,225 during his 10 years of competition, led the large field to post. Following the race, the "champ" was brought to the winners' circle and after Monmouth's president, Amory L. Haskell, presented the silver trophies to owner Lawrence R. Troiano, trainer M. G. "Mickey" Walsh and jockey A. P. "Paddy" Smithwick, he presented a blanket of roses to Elkridge.

Second in importance to the Midsummer Hurdle Handicap during Monmouth's final week of hurdling, was the United Hunts Purse, a 1½-mile test with a purse value of $4,000. Open only to horses which had started at a hunt race meeting over brush or hurdles in 1952 or '53, the event attracted 8 starters.

Switching from brush to hurdles, Manton B. Metcalf, Jr.'s Beaupre found them to his liking and won the event under the guidance of Ray Wolfe, Jr., son of the trainer. Watched from the stand by his paternal grandmother and his sister, "Tootie", Ray, Jr., rated the eventual winner far off the early pace. As the field thinned on approaching the 4th hurdle, he moved with the gelded son of *Beau Pere and gained the second position behind C. Mahlon Kline's *Spleen. The latter had opened up a commanding lead at the start and apprentice rider R. Leaf attempted to widen his advantage. However, this was not to be. Beaupre rapidly cut down his advantage and cleared the final hurdle a half-length to the good, and went on to score by three-quarters of a length as *Spleen held on gamely.

302 Head Average $9,746; Duntreath Farm Goes To $59,000 For Filly By Roman—Boat, By Man o'War

Alexander Mackay-Smith

The market was never better. 302 head for just under 3 million dollars, an average of $9,746 per head. Buyers came in by train, plane and automobile from all sections of the country, from California to Massachusetts. The eastern contingent was particularly strong this year; in fact, as noted in our last issue, on the first afternoon there were enough members of the Jockey Club present to have held a meeting of that august body.

All during the sales there was much discussion as to what was responsible for this dazzling display of cash. There was at least one theory for every buyer and every seller, but the consensus seemed to rest on the present high earning powers of race horses due to increased purses. Whether one attributed the increase to the efforts of the H. B. P. A. or to the long lines in front of the pari-mutuel windows, made no difference to the customers. The money is there for the horses to earn and horses they must have.

Many articles about the sales are currently being published each one with its own particular angle. We propose to consider them from the angle which is the particular province of The Chronicle in the Thoroughbred field—the angle of buyers who have become interested in racing through their association with allied Thoroughbred sports—steeplechasing, hunting, horse shows and polo.

Jack Skinner of Middleburg, Va., who currently trains a string of 'chasers for Paul Mellon, bought for the latter to run on the flat 3 outstanding fillies, which will make top broodmare prospects after their racing days are over. From Duval Headley he purchased the bay filly by Polynesian—Buddy Kenny by *Pharamond II. This filly is a lovely individual and excited great interest. Horatio Luro, bidding for Arnold Hanger, was the underbidder and was most disappointed not to get her. From Lucas B. Combs Mr. Mellon secured the brown filly by Roman—Nurse Boss by Broadside at $21,000 and from the Stoner Creek Stud (Mrs. John D. Hertz) the bay filly by War Admiral—Risque Blue by Blue Larkspur for $14,500. Another buyer from the steeplechase ranks was Bayard Sharp of Wilmington, Del. whose Lieut. Well and Knight's Quest were winning stakes over the jumps not so long ago. Through William Passmore he bought from the Shawnee Farm the brown colt by *Goya II—Blue Scene by Blue Larkspur for $14,500. Harry La Montagne of New York, who rode as well as owned many good chasers came to the sales to select the bay colt by Brookfield—Helene by Chaldon, which he bought from the Brownwood Farm consignment for $9,000.

Outstanding among the buyers from former horse show enthusiasts was the Hasty House Farm of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Reuben of Toledo, Ohio. Mrs. Reuben not long back rode as well as owned a most successful stable of show hunters. The spectacular success of the stable is well-known to all readers of Raleigh Burroughs column—in three weeks it has won the Arlington Lassie with Queen Hopeful, the Arlington Futurity with Hasty Road, and the Arlington Handicap with Oil Capitol, the latter being owned in partnership with the trainer of all 3, Harry Trotsek. As the first two were bought as yearlings at the sale last year, their selections last week will be watched with particular interest. These included the bay colt by *Alibhai—*Jerrybuilt by Empire Builder from Leslie Combs II at $32,000; the bay colt by War Relic—Dark Sissy by Display from J. C. McMahan at $12,500; and the brown filly by Eight Thirty—Halsgal by Haltal from Woodvale Farm at $5,500.

William Haggin Perry of Cobham, Virginia is currently a member of the Executive Committee of the American Horse Shows Association and Chairman of the Hunter Committee. Mrs. Perry campaigns a notable string of show horses, including One More Penant, winner this year of the Virginia Field Hunter Championship. Acting through his trainer J. H. Skirvin, Mr. Perry bought from Warner L. Jones, Jr. the brown colt by *Royal Gem II—Miss Idabelle by *Challenger II for $20,000.

Keeneland Sales

It was not many years ago that Mr. and Mrs. Tom Waller of Bedford Hills, New York, were schooling and showing hunters and jumpers. At the present time Mr. Waller trains for a number of owners who have been closely identified with hunting and horse shows. Among these is William Ewing of New York who attended the sales and for whom he bought (from Miss Mildred Woolwine) the bay colt by *Alibhai—Black Lashes by *Sickle for $19,000. Black Lashes by the way, was named for the present Mrs. Cortright Wetherill (then Miss Ella Widener), owner of the great steeplechasers Iron Shot and Adaptable and currently a patron of the hunt race meetings as well as the major tracks.

Mr. Waller also trains for James O. McCue who bought the top priced yearling at the 1951 sale. They sat next to each other on Tuesday night, when it looked as though they might repeat the process. As it turned out, however, Mr. McCue was the underbidder on the two high dollar yearlings of the whole sales, both fillies, (a favorable comment on the value of breeding stock) which sold for $59,000 and $50,000 respectively. These were Harry B. Scott's bay filly by Roman—Boat by Man o'War which went to Duntreath Farm and Leslie Combs bay filly by *Mahmoud—Durazna by Bull Lea which was secured for a Canadian client by W. R. McGirr, agent. The third highest price of the sales was paid by Josephine Abercrombie (formerly Mrs. Josephine de Segura), currently a member of the Exhibitors' Committee of the American Horse Shows Association, who went to $42,000 to secure the brown filly by Count Fleet—Our Colors, by Man o'War from the estate of Samuel D. Riddle.

A recent recruit from the show hunter ranks is J. E. O'Connell of Boston, Mass., whose Green Dunes Farm campaigned such horses as My Bill and Runabit (by Walt A Bit) with great success. Shirley Payne, who then did the piloting over jumps, is now training the flat horses and galloping them as well. Last year Mr. O'Connell purchased two 2 year olds in Ireland, *Artane and *Double Header II, both of which won for him, the former coming up second on the Irish Free Handicap. Both have also won this year in this country. No doubt encouraged by these successes Mr. O'Connell purchased two at Keeneland from the Crown Crest consignment, a bay colt by Roman—Search Me by Menow for $17,500 and a chestnut colt by Billings—Intrigue by Discovery for $9,000.

Mrs. E. Barry Ryan, who used to be seen astride the jumpers in the show ring, was at her husband's elbow when he bought the bay colt by *Blenheim II—Bird Hawk by *Sir Gallahad III from the Cave Spring Farm for $13,000 and the chestnut colt by *Rico Monte—Humane by Broadside from Lucas B. Combs for $14,500. William Goadby Loew, well-known in hunting and coaching circles, personally selected a dark brown colt by I Will—Chiffon by Count Fleet at $9,000 from Warner L. Jones, Jr. and a bay filly by *Priam II—Flying Column by War Admiral at $8,100 from Bay Bell.

William Post, from the famous polo-playing family of Long Island, bought three, a black colt by Revoked—Koubis by *Mahmoud from Forest Retreat for $14,500; a bay filly by Roman—Bostoff by Bostonian from Miss Mildred Woolwine for $13,000; and a brown colt by Third Degree—Phi Beta by *Rhodes Scholar from Thomas Platt for $7,000. Another former polo player (and present member of the Jockey Club) at the sale was John Hanes who bought from Leslie Brownell Combs the bay filly by Count Fleet—Golden Legend, by *Jacopo for $7,500. Speaking of polo, it should be remembered that one of the greatest players in the country, not long ago, was John Hay Whitney, also present at the sales, whose Greentree Stud bought the chestnut colt by *Heliopolis—Pandora by Unbreakable from C. A. Kenney for $25,000 and the bay colt by Roman—Blue Jet by Blue Larkspur from L. J. Tutt for $17,000.

Among the consignors with a fox-hunting background were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Connors (he the secretary of the Middleburg Hunt) who sold 2 for $26,000 and Mrs. Parker Poe's Shawnee Farm which sold 6 for $91,000.

Mrs. Poe has one of the best packs of Walker hounds in the United States and also campaigns a stable of show hunters which is handled by Mrs. Mary Barbin. In 1952 Mrs. Poe paid $57,000 at the Fasig-Tipton Meadowbrook Sales for the great race mare *Miss Grillo as a broodmare prospect.

A: "I look first to see who makes it—for in the long run you must depend on the manufacturer's experience, facilities and integrity to bring you a food that will supply your dog with the best possible scientific nourishment."

Q: "After deciding on a reliable brand, how do you test it yourself?"

A: "To see for yourself how well your dog gets along on a food, make it at least the greater part of his diet for 30 days, keeping a close watch on his coat, condition and general health. If not satisfied, then give another good brand an equally full and fair trial. But always remember that no amount of personal trial can replace the extensive scientific testing that a manufacturer should carry on."

Q: "Aren't the better foods more expensive to feed?"

A: "Not necessarily. Although a reliable brand may be priced a penny or two more per pound, it's apt to provide considerably more real nourishment than the same amount of some cheaper brand. Actually your best buy is a top-quality dog meal, bought in large-size packages. And top-quality meal costs only a fraction as much to feed as more expensive types of food—and far less than inferior meals that call for high-priced supplements."

SEE HOW GAINES MEASURES UP:

- * A quarter-century devoted solely to development of better dog food.
- * Unmatched laboratories and research kennels.

News From The Studs

KENTUCKY

Both in Foal

The two great race mares Bewitch and Two Lea, daughters of Bull Lea owned by Mrs. Gene Markey's Calumet Farm, Lexington, have both been pronounced in foal to Count Fleet.

Rasch Back

Otto Rasch, Sr., has returned from New York to open a public training stable at Keeneland. He will specialize in breaking yearlings.

Nice Timing

Keeneland Sales consignors and officials of the Breeders' Sales Company, Inc., viewed with broad smiles the results of stakes run on the Saturday before the auctions opened. Keeneland-sold horses ran 1-2-3 in the Arlington Futurity, 1-2 in the Saranac Handicap and Michigan Mile, and 1st in the Narragansett Nursery Stakes.

Headley Dispersal

Hal Price Headley, owner of Beaumont Farm, Lexington, has announced the dispersal of his Thoroughbred breed-during the illness of his father, Hal Pettit Headley.

Hal Price Headley has bred such runners as Pellicle, Lithe, Menow, Askmenow, Letmenow, Lotowhite, Megogo, Flood Town, Athenia and Hollyrood. Lithe, Askmenow Letmenow and Athenia will be included in the dispersal, which will be under the direction of John H. Clark, of Lexington.

Four Sons

Not often do four sons all go into their father's business. But that is the case with the four boys of Stanley Penn, the Lexington, Ky., and Hialeah, Fla., feed dealer. It is Stanley Penn & Sons now—the "& Sons" being Robert, Paul, George and John.

Prediction

One of the largest private Thoroughbred breeders in Kentucky (in addition to Hal Price Headley) will announce the sale of all his brood mares before long. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Reine-man's Crown Crest Farm, Lexington, is negotiating for the purchase of the ing stock, with the exception of the aging stallion Menow, through the Keeneland November Sales.

"I'll be 65 in December," Mr. Headley declared, "and I've decided to take things easy from here on out. Operating large farms in Kentucky and Georgia, and supervising a racing stable, is more work than I desire to do in the future."

Included in the dispersal will be 37 mares, 14 of them stakes winners and a dozen more placed in stakes. Only 27 are old enough to have foals of racing age, and 13 of these are stakes producers.

Mr. Headley will also sell, either by syndication or at auction, his half-interests in the stallions Revoked and *Rico Monte, both of whom stand at Beaumont.

More frequently on the lists of leading breeders and leading owners than any other living man, Mr. Headley began his career as a horseman in 1908, when he was called home from Princeton University to manage Beaumont mares in a group; but this breeder may decide to sell at auction instead.

Wheatley's Antagonism

Wheatley Stable has a chestnut suckling filly by Menow—Antagonism, by Eight Thirty, at A. B. Hancock's Claiborne Farm, Paris. This is the first foal for Antagonism, which prevailed in a memorable blanket finish of the 1951 Black Helen Handicap. Antagonism has been bred to Bimelech.

Graham's Errards

Claypool's Fillies

A trio of finely bred fillies will be sold at Saratoga by Garrett S. Claypool, owner of Brookwood Farm, Lexington, Ky. The group consists of a half-sister, by Ace Admiral, to Laran; a daughter of Lord Boswell—Foolish Heart, by *Benagi; and a half-sister, by *Nizami, to the English stakes winner Unitas.

Great Circle to Shadyside
Yolo Stable's Great Circle, earner of $285,870, has arrived at Charles A. Kenney's Shadyside Farm, Lexington, where he will enter stud next year at a fee of $1,000 live foal.

Bred by Louis B. Mayer, Great Circle cost John deBlois Wack's Yolo Stable $16,500 as a 2-year-old of 1949 at one of the Mayer sales. He won the Oakland, Cinema and Sunset Handicaps, Del Mar Derby and Santa Anita Maturity. In the Del Mar Derby, he set a new 1 1-8 mile record of 1:48 2-5 at the same track where the previous season he had established a new 5 1-2 furlong standard. Great Circle also finished 1st in the Golden Gate Derby, but was disqualified and placed 2nd for interference with Sir Butch.

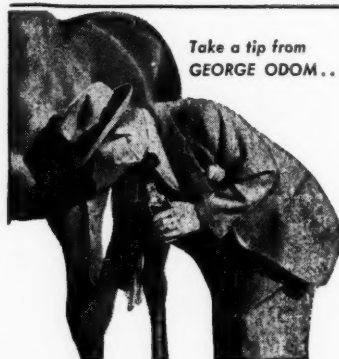

Great Circle is the richest son of *Beau Pere; and his dam, Hemisphere, is a half-sister to that stallion's richest daughter, Honeymoon. Hemisphere took the Sequoia Stakes herself; and she has also produced the high-class filly Cosmopolite, full sister to Great Circle. Hemisphere is likewise a half-sister to another good son of *Beau Pere, Pedigree. Hemisphere is a daughter of Whirlaway's sire *Blenheim II, from Panoramic, half-sister to Whirlaway, Reaping Reward and Feudal Lord.

Several of Mr. Wack's best mares will be sent from California to be bred to Great Circle.

Education to Drymon-Metz

Fred W. Hooper's Education, earner of $188,698, will move for the 1954 season to Ira Drymon's and J. C. Metz's farm on the Lane Allen Road outside Lexington.

Mechanized Part of Grass Farming Is Handled By Four Tractors At Fraleigh Hill

Kent Leavitt

Mid May to July 4 has become the high pressure season at Fraleigh Hill. In those six or seven weeks some 250 tons of grass silage and six to eight thousand bales of hay must be harvested in addition to what the cows may consume themselves. This latter item is of no mean importance. A mature cow should consume some 125 lbs. of grass and legume from pasture every 24 hours. Thus 40 cows will clean off between two and three tons of forage daily. As they are fussy animals who turn up their noses at anything that is not short and sweet, there must be added to the hay and silage work a regular program of pasture clipping and fertilization.

Thus it is wise to have all equipment in perfect shape before the rush begins. Fall and winter months in a well heated machine shop were provided by the Lord for this purpose. As one machinery dealer once asked me, "Why are there so many farmers who wait until they have twenty acres of hay cut before they have a look at the baler?" With us in addition, all leaves, vacations, Sundays off and even social engagements for dinner are cancelled or reduced to emergencies. Lights on tractors and on the outside of the barn are often most useful.

The equipment which will effectively handle such a mass of wet and dry material is constantly being improved by the manufacturers. But as no farmer can afford new machinery every year, he must adapt the old to meet the new as best he can. Furthermore, the increasing cost of labor has also put a premium on machine efficiency. There are four of us who do the haying and silage here, but we admit to using the assistance of the ladies or visiting firemen at every possible opportunity, particularly in the tractor driving department, as power units at Fraleigh Hill number four tractors. A twenty-year old International F 30 converted to rubber tires is the largest and most powerful. Despite its age and its lack of modern gadgets such as power lifts, etc., it fills a most important place in our operations. Furthermore it is fully depreciated.

Next in line is an eight-year-old John Deere A. This heavy tractor has been equipped with a special power take off clutch made by Innes. Mounted on the left axle housing, convenient to the driver, this device is V belt driven from a pulley bolted to the flywheel. It transmits the power thus received to the regular PTO shaft by means of gears and a heavy duty chain. As all our harvesting machinery (Allis Chalmers fieldchopper, Meyers hay conditioner, International Baler and John Deere combine) are power take off driven, the flexibility of this independent clutch makes it indispensable. Its operation is completely independent of the transmission gears of the tractor, for the power is taken directly from the motor. Thus regardless of whether the tractor is standing still, moving forward in a regular gear setting or being inched ahead through a particularly heavy mass of grass or a badly bunched windrow, the harvesting machine can be kept up to its proper operating speed.

Some of the new tractors are now being equipped with independent or "floating" power take off clutches, but none that we have seen are as effective as this simple device. By having our four chief harvesting machines power take off driven, we have saved ourselves the capital investment and operating costs on four independent motors which might only be used three or four weeks a year, plus the unbelievable headaches that can be caused by balky motors. There is no question but that our speed of operation is a bit slower, but by and large we are very satisfied.

The other two tractors are Fords. One has a heavy duty side-mounted mower, which has never been removed since the day it was purchased eight years ago. This mower is primarily used for clipping pastures and hedge rows. It is particularly suited for the latter job as the cutter bar will operate at any angle from below the horizontal to the vertical. The possession of a mower of this type, always ready to go at a moments notice, is of tremendous help, particularly in pasture maintenance. Many a time when weather or other factors leave a man free for an hour or so, it can profitably be spent clipping pastures. If time had to be taken to attach a standard mower to a tractor, the effort would not be made. The other Ford has a special slow speed transmission ratio in addition to the regular gears, designed to be used with the rotovator. It holds the tractor to the proper speed against the forward thrust of the rotovator blades.

With this equipment oiled and polished, we are ready to start our grass harvest by the 1st of May. Although our cows have probably been out for at least two weeks on orchard grass and ladino. New seedlings, if the land is sufficiently dry to support heavy equipment, are the first to be cut for the silo. We are convinced that it is next to impossible to make good quality hay from the first cuttings of new seedlings. The growth is too lush and rank, the ground too wet and the humidity of the early summer days too high. It all goes into our silos. Silo filling at Fraleigh Hill has been reduced to a one man operation. We put in four to eight loads per day. Each load of freshly cut and chopped grass and legume will weigh about four tons, and with it goes approximately 60 pounds per ton of molasses. One man with two tractors, a field chopper and high sided wagon can average about twenty-five tons per day if allowed to work steadily. This includes the field chopping, drawing in the loads, unloading with the Peak sucker-blower and leveling each load in the silo. Many of our neighbors put the whole gang at silo filling, but we feel that it is better to start early and fill slowly. Better compaction thus giving top quality plus more in the silo is the result. Some farmers partially dry or wilt the silage in the field, but we have found that we can make excellent feed by operating straight from the cutterbar to the wagon to the silo, thereby eliminating one operation and some weather risks.

At this time of year, late May or early June, the air may suddenly clear, the wind swing into the northwest and the drying conditions become perfect. Silo filling is reduced to one load per day. Out comes the one of our most valuable pieces of machinery, the Meyers hay conditioner and, if you please, worry reducer. Consisting of a very heavy frame which is securely bolted to the rear of a big tractor, this device operates a seven-foot cutterbar plus a pickup attachment that picks up the swath over which the tractor is running and passes it between two heavy high-speed steel rollers. The effect of this operation is to crack the stems of the legumes, allowing them to dry as rapidly as do the leaves. The fact that this machine leaves the freshly cut hay light and fluffy on the stubble (nothing having again passed over it) as well as leaving a majority of the heads down and the butts exposed to the sun and air also speed up the curing process. The net result of this triple action is to reduce field drying time from 24 to 36 hours and increasing by an even greater percentage the feeding value of the hay. As a result of using this machine, we have often cut heavy stands of young brome grass and alfalfa and had them raked, baled and ready for the mow with 24 hours. Bright green and soft of texture, this hay will have the palatableness and color of good second or third cutting hay.

The Meyers is also known as a worry reducer or nerve conditioner. It probably requires more skill and concentration to operate than any other machine on the farm. The fact that its two tons of weight are firmly bolted to the tractor increases the need for careful operation, particularly on corners and over woodchuck holes. The cutter bar must be kept in exactly the right relationship to the uncut hay at all times. The slightest deviation will clog it, leave unsightly tufts of uncut hay all over the lot or start one or both of the slip clutches on rollers or pickup chattering in fiendish glee. Financial, family or social worries, can be cleared from the mind by the simple process of setting yourself to mow a heavy stand of first cutting hay that may have lodged a bit. Should the little devils of worry start encroaching again on the outer fringe of your mind, a simple shift into a faster forward gear will disperse them immediately. It is as simple as that.

We have not, as yet, ventured into the artificial drying of hay. We have watched with great interest our neighbors efforts in this direction with various systems in operation, which vary from the very expensive Heil fielddryers to the various collections of blowers, motors, heaters, fans and lifts that have been assembled on some farms. So far the system which to us seems to be the most practical is to mow with a windrowing attachment, field chop the partially dry hay into wagons, move the hay from the wagons to mow by a series of belts and conveyors (pushbutton operation) and finish the operation by means of electrically driven fans in windtunnels in the hay-mow. We have one neighbor who claims to have reduced haying on a fifty cow dairy farm to a two man operation. There is no question but that much of the weather risk and backache can be removed from haying by such a process. But the average high quality of our own hay, the expense and noise of roaring fans and the difficulty of handling chopped hay in the barn have so far deterred us trying.

International Dressage Test At Wiesbaden Won Again By Sweden

Herbert Wiesenthal

The official international dressage test of the FEI for 1953 (comparable with the dressage events every 4 years at the Olympic Games) was held recently in Wiesbaden (Germany). Teams and individual riders from Sweden, Germany, Switzerland, England and Belgium participated. The competition received added significance by the fact that the winners of the gold and silver medals of the great dressage events in Helsinki last year—Sweden and Switzerland—had sent similarly composed teams.

The Grand Prix de Dressage (15 participants) was won—as last year—by the Swedish Major H. St. Cyr who performed this year on a new horse, called Juil. He was followed by Major Boltenstern (also Sweden) on Krest. In the Prix St. Georges was Sgt. Trachsel (Switzerland) on Kursus first and Mrs. H. Weygand (Germany) on Chronist runner-up. Two other dressage events were won by Sweden (Cadet Persson on Knaust) and Germany (R. Waetjen on Nixe) respectively.

The French and German riders were outstanding in the open jumping classes. The international team jumping was won by the second French team, followed by the second German team, the first German team and a mixed team (composed of riders from Germany, Holland and the USA). The open jumping for foreigners was taken by H. Francois-Poncet, France, (on Girardi) who excelled the over 24 other participants and who was also successful in other classes. Jean de Thoul, Mlle. Paureau (both France), H. H. Brinkmann, W. Pausch and Klaus Wagner (all Germany) were the winners in the other open jumping classes.

Animal Welfare League

Run single-handed by Gordon Furr, the Animal Welfare League of Arlington held another successful horse and pony show, with Miss Sally Blauner riding her Three's-A-Crowd to her second championship in as many tries this season. The good performing chestnut mare by One's Enough, scored wins in two classes and placed 2nd to the reserve title winner in the Kemp B. Furr Memorial Challenge trophy class for her score of 11 1-2 points.

The reserve champion was won by Fred Emery riding Frederick M. Warburg's 4-year-old grey Spawn. Spawn won the challenge trophy class which was donated by the many friends of Kemp Furr, who was the chairman of this show until his death a few years ago. Spawn scored 10 points for the reserve.

In the open jumper division Bert Firestone rode his dun mare, Golden Chance, to the award after a hard fought battle with George DiPaula's Lariat, which was ridden by Linky Smith. Golden Chance scored 12 points while Lariat had 11.

The pony division saw Billy Boyce, III's Smoky Joe and Miss Laura Lee Shreve's Popsicle, both just returned from Warrenton after a hard day of showing the day before, win two classes each.

The up and down hill hunter course didn't appear to bother Lakelawn Farm's Little Trip and Kendanny Farm's Glider as the two fenced very well to end up in a tie for the championship. In the hackoff, the nod went to Little Trip with Ed Daniels up.

Lakelawn Farm added another tri-color when their Tarboy had very little trouble annexing two out of the three open classes and 13 points for the championship. The second tie of the day resulted between John Vass' Blue Fern and Roger Young's Quien Sabe. A flip of the coin decided the reserve in favor of Blue Fern.

Farmington Junior

Four Championship Divisions at the Farmington Junior Show found each one packed with entries. Miss Beverly Harrison's Bigger Bit, moving like a miniature horse, piled up a lead of 16 1-2 points to win the tri-color in the small division. Miss Lolly Lawrence rode her Powder Puff to reserve.

Miss Laura Lee Shreve and her pony Popsicle proved to be an unbeatable combination in the large pony division. A total of 21 1-2 points gave her a substantial lead over Miss Terry Drury's Babette, which was reserve.

The jumper division proved quite exciting and was hotly contested. After numerous jump offs, Price McIntosh, riding like a veteran, emerged the victor when his sensational pony Johnny Cake out jumped Golden Jane to garner the championship.

The junior division (for horses only) brought forth a banner list of entries. An average of thirty horses appeared in the nine classes of this division. Ribbons were well distributed, and it was interesting to observe, after following juniors for several years, how many had graduated from ponies to horses. Points for the championship were close up until the final class, but Miss Penny Jennings had things her own way in the final count. She rode both the champion and reserve with a margin of 2 points. Adding to many a collection of championship ribbons and repeating her crown of the previous week's Warrenton Junior Show, Baby Seal proved her worth as a good junior mount by nosing out her stablemate, Barab.

The horsemanship division found a near monopoly with the Harrison sisters. In the 12 and under (accumulative for the three Farmington Shows) Miss Beverly Harrison won the blue, while her sister, Page, a rider of six weeks, won 1st place in the beginner's class. The coveted VHSA event was won by Miss Caroline Evans.

Good sportsmanship prevailed throughout the show and there was a special award for the most outstanding junior. Miss Courtney Wells, Co-Chairman of the show, proved in her calm, unruffled way that she would handle her responsibilities both on and off her mounts. She was duly awarded this honor.

A hard rain turned the ring into a sea of mud during Sunday's performance, but in spite of slips and spills, fortunately no mishaps occurred.

Goldens Bridge Hounds Colt and Horse

The Paternos' Meadow Lane Farm Showgrounds was the scene of the annual Goldens Bridge breeding show, conducted this year by the Northern Westchester Chapter of the P. H. A. The Melvilles' competent and speedy judging, well-filled classes, good organization, and a cool breeze made for a pleasant day marred only by the continuation of the drought which made the ring more than a little dusty.

The Tanrackin Farm's Lennane repeated her triumph of last year to win the Jockey Club Challenge Trophy for the champion broodmare, and her chestnut foal by Pass Out was champion foal. Reserve to Lennane was Mrs. Richard Parish, Jr.'s 3-4 bred Elmo's Light, the winner of the other than Thoroughbred class. Reserve champion foal was the Woodhill Farm's chestnut colt by Alaking—Fire Sticky, whose dam was 2nd to Lennane in the two Thoroughbred classes.

The Goldens Bridge Hunt Challenge Trophy for the best colt or filly shown in hand was won by *Miss Grillo's yearling chestnut filly by *Heliopolis, half-sister to last year's Saratoga sales topper, owned by Mill River Stable. Reserve to her was the Clover Hill Farm's 4-year-old chestnut gelding, War Thane.

In the young hunter division the Meadow Lane Challenge Trophy was won by Miss Rosalind LaRoche's lovely 3-year-old filly Good Luck, shown by her and Emerson Burr. Reserve was the Twin Lakes Farm's Sortone, also a 3-year-old, ridden by Jim Scheuer.

Harrison

Children's classes certainly are not on the wane, as was witnessed by the all-junior show, held at Joe Vanorio's Kentucky Stable. Eighty-two horses and riders poured out in the hot sun to compete for horsemanship and hunter honors, as well as saddle horse rosettes. At the final tally, the stable trophy was overwhelmingly won by Kentucky, which deserves much credit for the interest and sportsmanship they show.

In the hunter ranks, a very young and a very old horse battled it out all the way to the end, with the points ending in a tie. After the hack-off the nod went to the young horse, Miss Betty Haight's 5-year-old Guard Hill. Gordon Wright's 24-year-old Saki, piloted by Miss Nancy Maginess had to settle for the reserve.

There were many horsemanship classes, for all stages of riding, and although the advanced riders names showed up in the championships, there were quite a few other noteworthy performances. Just beginning to show,

Miss Patty Pearce put up some very polished performances to win the limit over fences and the maiden on the flat, while Miss Patty Arcuni won the novice and qualified for the National by winning the Maclay. Although not winning any blues, Miss Gail Porter, Miss Tania Goss, Miss Shelia Moran, Bobby Heller, Miss Pat Heuckeroth and many others put up very good showings, and will be making strong names for themselves in the future.

In the open horsemanship ranks, two very capable girls, Miss Rosalind LaRoche and Miss Barbara Friedemann, battled it out all the way. Ronnie coped her third and last medal, setting herself up for The National Horse Show finals, while Barbara won the open. In the championship class, after a good workout, the nod went to Barbara over Rosalind.

William Jenkins' good going mare, Curiosity, was on top by 2 points going into the stake class when she had an off round and Baxter Baultz' Little Easter was pinned 1st to get the championship award.

The riders in the open classes were most co-operative in helping to set up the jumps. However, they got overly ambitious in the touch and out setting the fences well over 4'-0". Eleven horses had a go and only one horse—Sterling Smith's The Spot, got over the first fence. For the jump-off the first fence was lowered and three Smith horses got over two fences to take 2nd, 3rd, and 4th.

Two hundred entries appeared at Frontier Field for the 10th Annual Magic Valley Horse Show.

The program was diversified in order to bring in horses from nine different states as the club has membership in The International Horse Show Association, A. H. S. A., Inter-Mountain Arabian Horse Show Association and National Horse Show Association, Inc.

An interesting 4-year-old filly, Shining Star, owned by Martin V. Scully of Boise, made her debut at this event and was a consistent winner. She was ridden by Miss Geraldine Pearson of Portland.

Blenda and Gene Lewis of the Rafter-L stables of Boise, garnered most of the blues. They are always consistent winners in the Inter-Mountain and West-Coast horse show circuits and show in classes both western and English. Their new horse, Grit'n Steel, recently purchased from California, was uneven in the first three jumping and hunter events but came off with the blue in the final touch and out.

It took the judges longer than usual to pin the classes.

Lakelawn Farm's Haymarket made his debut in this section as a hunter, a winning one. Under the capable guidance of Ed Daniels, the brown gelding won ribbons enough to be pinned champion over John Vass' Brave Air which was competing on his home grounds.

It was Ken Morley's What-A-Day, a newcomer to the open ranks, edging out Lakelawn Farm's Tarboy by 1-2 point for the tri-color. What-A-Day's best performance came in the stake when he was the only one to have a clean performance.

On top for the Maclay and horsemanship championship was Miss Letitia McClure, while one of the up and coming hunter seat riders, Miss Judy Pfeifer, was the winner of the medal.

New Brunswick

New Jersey's newest stable of horse show jumpers came out on top in the New Brunswick Horse Show. Norman Coates, owner of Volco Stables, recently purchased two horses from the late Harry Ryan string and one of these, Royal Knight, was pinned champion in the jumper division. Frank Chapot rode for the stable. Mr. and Mrs. Leon S. Haymond's Andante, ridden by Dave Kelley, was reserve.

The working hunter tri-color went to Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Charles B. Lyman's Tanamerah. The big grey won easily, gathering 20 1-2 points to his nearest opponent's 12 1-2. Kimberling, owned by Kimberton Hills Farm, was reserve after winning the championship preliminary.

Champion green working hunter was H. C. Baldwin's Jayber. Ralph Petersen's Double Trouble gained reserve after winning the stake class.

John Franzreb's Little Model was pinned champion pony, with Lane Billing's Holiday reserve.

Miss Barbara Olive came out on top in the hunter seat horsemanship division after winning the limit class. Reserve to Barbara was Raymond Walsh, who also captured the open horsemanship class and his second medal.

The most exciting class of the show was a high jump class with one fence, starting at 4'-6". Each entry was given three tries to clear the fence. Winner of this class was Mrs. Hugh Barclay's Tamarack, ridden by Joe Green, which cleared the fence at 6.-0".

North Oaks Junior Riding Club

The North Oaks Riding Club consists of 40 members who all live in North Oaks, a suburb of St. Paul, Minn. With 4,000 acres available for cross country riding, the possibilities of starting an organized hunt seem to be just around the corner. The officers: John Peck, president, Louis Hill and John Daniels, vice-presidents and Mrs. William Fobes and John Parish directors, are already laying plans to panel this beautiful country which is made up of rolling and wooded terrain. Sandy Bemis, Donald Opstad, and John Daniels have been invaluable in planning this project.

River Ridge Riding and Polo Club

Just two weeks after the Columbus Riding Club Show, there was a show at the State Fair Coliseum held by the River Ridge Riding Club. There were lots of good horses there. The hunter equitation class was particularly large and the judge had quite a time making up his mind. It seemed like it took hours and everyone became very impatient, but he had a hard job. Anyway, judging from the other shows, he pinned them about right.

Forward Schooling

Dear Sir:

I was one of the leaders who helped form the Weston 4H Horse Club and it was believed, when the Club was formed six years ago, that it was the first 4H Horse Club east of the Mississippi. I think this is true. Since that time, I know that nine other clubs have been formed in Massachusetts and we have had inquiries about starting clubs from other New England states. We have something over a hundred members who own horses enrolled in 4H Horse Clubs in our Country.

I have subscribed to The Chronicle for the last five years and read each issue from cover to cover. I think you have done a wonderful job since you took over and I am delighted to see you printing more articles promoting good riding. The new section Grass Roots is a good idea. I hope you will continue to have articles on hunting in Ireland as they are most interesting to me as I have made two hunting trips to Ireland.

Sincerely yours,

Honora Haynes

Ivory Rangers Remain Undefeated After Game With John Rice All Stars

Art Hagan

The Ivory Rangers, off to their fastest start in the postwar years, rode to their ninth straight victory when they subdued the John Rice All Stars, 8-4, in an indoor polo game at the Ivory Field Wednesday night, July 22.

The triumph marked the first time in more than a decade that the Rangers had gone undefeated through their first nine games. The best previous record was established in 1950 when the red-shirted poloists won their first seven before they bowed to Oak Brook, 8-7.

In 1952 the Rangers went unbeaten through their first seven contests, although they had a 5-5 tie with Franklin Hills in the string. They lost their eighth start to the Milwaukee Shamrocks, 7-4.

After a one-one deadlock in the first chukker against Rice and his cohorts, the Rangers bolted into a 4-2 advantage at the half and stayed in command the rest of the way.

Jack Stefani, the 20-year-old University of Detroit junior who has been enjoying a hot scoring streak, shared point-getting honors with teammate Bob Peterson. Each tallied three times. Mac Stefani scored twice for the Rangers, and Gwen Brown did the same for the All Stars.

Rice and Larry Williams each counted once for the losers.

Young Stefani has punched in 25 goals in his last six games, the best average of anyone on the Ranger squad. As a consequence, he now is the scoring pacemaker for the club.

In the preliminary contest, the Pontiac Chiefs stood off a determined closing rally by Franklin Hills to win, 6-5. The veteran Franklin Hills trio scored three times in the final chukker but it wasn't enough to pull out the victory.

The unbeaten Ivory Rangers ran their victory string to 11 by outslugging the Salem Polo Club in a free-scoring duel at the Salem, Ohio field Wednesday, July 29. The score was 18-12.

Salem, with a 3-goal handicap advantage, stayed in front for the first three chukkers. At the half, Salem clung to an 8-7 edge.

Then Jack Ivory, captain of the Rangers, took charge. He blasted in 2 goals in the fourth chukker, 3 in the fifth and another in the sixth. Under the impetus of his skilled shot making, the Rangers drew steadily away from their gallant opponents.

Ivory tallied 8 goals in the game. It was the second time in four days in Ohio that he had bagged 8 markers.

Dave Williams was next for the Rangers with 5 goals. Although he made only 1 goal, Juan Rodriguez sparkled on defense and helped set up several scoring plays for the winners.

Will Smith and Jim Pidgeon each scored 4 goals for Salem.

25-Goal Nassau Four Turns Back the Palo Duro Quartet 7-3

Bill Briordy

The keenest kind of polo was presented at Bostwick Field, Old Westbury, L. I., Sunday afternoon, July 26, when the 25-goal Nassau four turned back the Palo Duro quartet, 7 to 3.

Playing well up front, Stephen (Lad-die) Sanford paced Nassau's attack with 3 goals, as he took the long drives set up by Phil Iglehart and Alan Corey, who rode at the No. 2 and No. 3 spots. Devereux Milburn, Jr. was Nassau's back.

Nassau jumped to a 1-0 advantage on Iglehart's 40-yard poke in the initial chukker and made it 2-0 on Corey's tremendous 80-yard drive in the third period before Al Parsells made good on a 60-yard penalty shot for the Palo Duro four.

In front by 3-1 as a result of Sanford's first goal at intermission, Nassau stowed the game away by collecting 2 markers in each of the fourth and fifth chukkers. Palo Duro also got 2 goals in the fifth stanza.

Iglehart scored twice for the winners, while Milburn also scored once for Nassau. Parsells made two of Palo Duro's tallies, Ray Harrington getting the other one. Henry Lewis 3rd and Walter Shapter rounded out the Palo Duro side.

At the Blind Brook Polo Club, Purchase, N. Y., Blind Brook, paced by Bill Westerlund and Adie von Gontard with 4 goals each, turned back the Farmington (Conn.) four, 10-5. Westerlund and von Gontard rode with Bob Ackerman and Major Fred Collin. L. Smith, Leverett Miller, John Burns and Peter Packard formed Farmington.

Miller, who rode at No. 2 for the losers, was knocked from his mount in the third period after being hit by a high mallet. The former Yale star received a cut eye but was able to remain in the game. Packard scored 3 of Farmington's markers.

Walter Scanlon's 4 goals in the second half sparked the Bethpage Polo Club to a 7-5 triumph over Huntington at Bethpage State Park, Farming-

Australia Has Made No Formal Announcement to Cancel Equestrian Events

The papers of August 2nd carried various reports about the cancellation of the equestrian events in the 1956 Olympic Games at Melbourne, Australia. However, as of August 3rd President Avery Brundage stated that Australia has not formally made such a statement to the International Olympic Committee.

Everyone interested in a U. S. Olympic Equestrian Team has been reading the various articles which have been written about Australia's quarantine laws which would prohibit holding the equestrian events.

It is a well-known fact that the Olympic Rules state that all of the events must be held in the city close to the games and under this present ruling, it would not be possible to hold the equestrian events elsewhere. The F.E.I. is naturally perturbed and if the horses are not allowed in Australia, then it would be up to the F.E.I. to induce the International Olympic Committee to let the equestrian events be held elsewhere.

With the prospect of a formal announcement being made by Melbourne, should any city in this country wish to hold the equestrian events, such a group should arrange with the U. S. Equestrian Team, Inc. to present an official invitation to the U. S. Olympic Association so that it can be forwarded to the International Olympic Committee. The U. S. Olympic Association will hold their meeting around the first part of December, 1953, while the meeting of the International Olympic Committee will be held at Athens, Greece next May. At this latter meeting a final decision will be made as to the equestrian events in the 1956 Olympic Games.

dale, L. I. Arthur Kaye's first and third chukker goals gave Bethpage a 2-2 deadlock at half-time and 2 markers by Scanlon in the final period decided the issue.

Les Turner and Bill Hulbert rode with Art Kaye and Scanlon, while A. Buschmann, John Ride, George E. Kent, Jr. and Bill Stoothoff made up the Huntington side.

Monmouth Hurdles

Closing well in the final stages, Mrs. Fay Ingalls' Bab's Whey gained the show award, some 12 lengths in front of Mrs. M. G. Walsh's *Marshland 2nd. *Rallywood, Fairy Ace and *Orestes Kid finished behind the money horses as named, while Furthermore pulled up lame. The winner completed the 1½-mile trip in 2:43 4/5 over a fast course.

Following the race, Robert C. Winmill, vice president of the United Hunts Racing Association presented trophies to the winning owner, trainer and rider. The victory was a popular one as Mr. Metcalf is a native of Rumson, N. J., and preceding his move to Camden, S. C., trainer Ray Woolfe and his family made their home in this area.

The final week of hurdle sport opened on Monday, July 27, and 12 maidens answered the call to post in a 1½-mile test. Second in his preceding race at Monmouth, Mrs. Cordelia Scaife May's Billing Bear, had little trouble in graduating from the maiden ranks. Nicely handled by Jimmy Murphy, the 4-year-old Bolingbroke—Index gelding was rated just off the early pace, that was set by Byron Hilliard's Rarity. Making his move on the final turn, Billing Bear took the last fence just 3 lengths in front of the Lazy F Ranch's Out Point and held his advantage to win by 1½ lengths. Making his second start over hurdles, the latter held the place award safe from Rarity, which was tiring. The winner's time for the journey was 2:44 2/5 over a fast course.

King Commander, who was later destined to win the Midsummer Hurdle Handicap for owner L. R. Troiano, started his winning ways by capturing the 1½-mile allowance test on Tuesday, July 28. Outgaming the front-running Joe Ray, Jr., in the final stages, King Commander went well under "Paddy" Smithwick to turn back the latter by a length and a half. Emmett Roberts' Fleur De Jolie held the show award safe from Gustav Ring's Lone Eagle, who was making his debut over hurdles after a successful career on the turf. The winner's time was 2:42.

Running for claiming prices of $3,500, the Happy Hill Farm's Marcheast and Mrs. Henry Obre's *Coup-De-Vite, coupled as an entry trained by J. V. H. "Bobbie" Davis, ran as named to annex the 1¾-mile event on Friday, July 30. An odds-on favorite with the crowd, the pair never left the issue in doubt after the eventual winner disposed of War Candy over the 8th hurdle. Handled by Charlie Harr, Marcheast led his stablemate under the wire by 4 lengths, while the latter was some two lengths to the good of the rapidly-closing *Wunderprinz. War Candy, who was weaving and lugging out under apprentice rider Jimmy Hobales, bumped Mrs. M. G. Walsh's Reno Sam over the final hurdle. Following a review of the film, the Stewards placed War Candy last in the official order of finish and moved Reno Sam into 4th position. Marcheast's time for the trip was 3:22 3/5 over a fast course.

Following Friday's handicap a recapitulation by Chris Wood, Jr., disclosed that Monmouth Park's three weeks of hurdle racing easily topped the preceding two years. A total of 13 races were offered (three more than the condition book called for), and a total of $51,500 was disbursed during the session. In 1952 Monmouth disbursed $45,475 in hurdle purses and during the initial session in 1951, a sum of $31,615 was distributed.

By virtue of King Commander's victory in the stake and another in an overnight event, Lawrence R. Troiano topped the owners by winning $10,250 in net prize money. M. G. "Mickey" Walsh, who saddled King Commander and other in-the-money horses, paced the trainers by garnering $14,950 for his patrons. A. P. "Paddy" Smithwick, who scored a double on King Commander and won one other race with Mrs. Rea Wingfield's Escarp, topped the 'chase riders with his trio of victories.

MONMOUTH NOTES

The promotion of hurdle racing at Monmouth Park has brought many new enthusiasts who relish the infield sport. This was proven at the recent hurdle session by the almighty dollar, an infallible gauge according to race course operators. During the three weeks of Monmouth's hurdling a total of $1,408,630 was wagered on 13 races, against the $1,118,549 wagered on 12 races in 1952. The daily average handle was $108,356 against the daily average handle of $101,689 in 1952. The largest amount of money wagered on a hurdle race at Monmouth Park was the $136,384 bet on the recent Midsummer Hurdle Handicap. The same race last year, with a smaller field, handled the sum of $114,105. Sizing up the whole situation with one quick and sure-fire figure—the daily wagering on the hurdle races increased 6.9 over last year's wagering.

Many visitors from far away visited Monmouth Park during the hurdle session. Jack and Jane Brant (he is secretary of the Royalton Steeplechase Association) came from Indianapolis, Ind., for the United Hunts Purse . . . Owner J. Byron Hilliard of Harrods Creek, Ky., flew in from a Canadian vacation to see his Rarity run . . . Ronnie Woodward came back a second time from Indianapolis . . . Karl Whittendale, now in his 70's and known to many in the Radnor Hunt country, enjoyed a day as a guest of Chris Wood, Jr. "Pop," as Mr. Whittendale is best known, rode over the hurdles at the original course during the turn of the century . . . Bill Harned was down from Allentown, Pa., and talking about entering the sport of steeplechasing . . . Mrs. Fay Ingalls came on from her Hot Springs, Va. residence to see her homebred, Bab's Whey run a good third in the United Hunts Purse. Many United Hunts members lunched at the course on United Hunts Day, when members and their guests were guests of Monmouth Park. Seen on the dining terrace were the John Denny's from Tuckahoe, N. J., dining with the Joe Walls from Rose Tree . . . Many visitors came from the Radnor Hunt country. Tad and Margaret Trout, Jack Hill and Anne Bowman Sullivan were busy picking winners . . . Ruth Neilson and a group of girl friends were on hand . . . Tom McKoy flew in from Philadelphia with the Dave Odells and his daughter, Mrs. Curtis E. L. Gould . . . R. C. "Bobbie" Winmill, vice president of the United Hunts Racing Association, arrived early and was shown over the plant by Amory L. Haskell, president of the United Hunts and Monmouth Park . . . Bill Frantz, who won the United Hunts Purse last year with Trout Brook, did not have a starter in the race. However, he and his wife were on hand for the sport . . . Frankie Powers, who served as a timer during the recent Delaware Park meeting, drove Bruner Wallace up from Philadelphia . . . Larry Illoway was unable to attend as his wife, Katherine, foaled a filly in the Bryn Mawr Hospital on United Hunts day at Monmouth.

1946. His major victories came in the Hialeah Juvenile, Elementary and Prairie State Stakes, Hawthorne Juvenile Handicap, Washington Park and Breeders' Futurities. In the Hawthorne Juvenile, he equaled the 6-furlong record of 1:10 3-5 under 126 pounds. He won in allowance and handicap company in later seasons.

The first crop by the son of Ariel—Faculty, by *Swift and Sure, are now 2-year-olds. Nine of them have started to date, and 8 have won.

Big Boy

If you see an outsize exercise boy at Saratoga this summer, it will probably be Don Plunkett, Lexington high-school junior and an All-Kentucky end on last year's Lafayette High School football team. Don likes horses so well that he is going to miss the early football drills in order to stay at Saratoga. His biggest difficulty will be finding horses big enough to hold him.

Ryan's Alablue

E. Barry Ryan, owner of Normandy Farm, Lexington, has a chestnut suckling filly by Cable—Alablue, winner of the Test Stakes and Christopher J. Fitzgerald Handicap. Mr. Ryan bought the daughter of Blue Larkspur for $37,000 from the Mill River Stable dispersal while she was carrying this filly. Alablue has been bred to Polynesian.

Dr. Dimock Dies

Dr. W. W. Dimock, 73, long-time head of the Department of Animal Pathology at the University of Kentucky, died recently of a heart attack at his Lexington home.

In 35 years at U. K., Dr. Dimock was best known to horsemen for his research on sterility and abortion infections, foal diseases and parasites. He also worked on swine diseases, botulism and John's disease in cattle and sheep parasites. He wrote or co-authored 75 publications on animal diseases.

Born in Tolland, Conn., Dr. Dimock held degrees from Cornell University, and from the Universities of Connecticut, Cuba and Havana.

He began his career in 1905 as veterinarian to the National Board of Health at the Cuban National Experiment Station. Four years later he became Professor of Pathology at Iowa State College, where he remained for nine years until he came to U. K.

Doherty's Stallion Station

Lou Doherty, recently resigned Manager of Elmendorf Farm, Lexington, plans to establish his own horse farm, for stallions only, at the site of Grant A. Dorland's former Roseland Farm No. 1 on the Russell Cave Pike. Mr. Doherty has leased the place from the Russell Cave Corporation, which bought it at auction in May through the Clark Horse Agency.

A concrete-block stud barn and loading dock are now under construction at the farm, which will be known as the Stallion Station. The loading dock will be graduated from six to 40 inches so as to accommodate horse vans or trailers of any height. Construction work is expected to be completed by September 1, but Mr. Doherty intends to move to the farm as soon as his successor has been named at Elmendorf.

Roman and Bolero, two Elmendorf stallions whose syndicates Mr. Doherty organized, will move to the Stallion Station. Roman has sired 31 stakes winners, while the first crop by the record-shattering Bolero are now yearlings.

TEAM ASPIRANTS

The final in a series of three try-outs for the 1953 U. S. Jumping Team were held Aug. 1-2 at Pebble Beach. Winners in this section were Miss Sandra Logue of Calif. and "Happy" Chapman from Oregon. With the finals coming up at Quentín, Pa. on August 15-16, the 10 eligible riders represent 9 states which is certainly a most encouraging sign as to increased interest. Along with the above two riders, the following are scheduled to participate in the finals: Miss Patricia Burke (New York City) Ronnie Mutch (Conn.); Mrs. Marjorie Haines Gill (Penna.); Charles Dennehy, Jr. (Ill.), and Mrs. Suzanne Norton Jones (New Mexico). As members of the 1953 team, Arthur McCashin (N. J.) Mrs. Carol Durand (Kans.) and William Steinkraus (Conn.) are also eligible. With quite an array of riders lined up, this portion of making up the team is moving along well. However, there is still a great need for horses and if there are any persons or person who would like to contact the U. S. Equestrian Team, Inc. about the possible use of a horse or horses, such a move would be greatly appreciated.

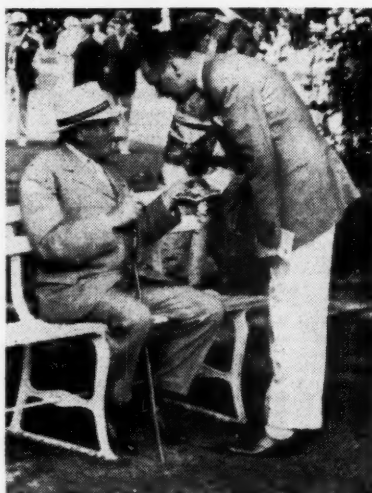

BON VOYAGE

Mrs. A. C. Randolph and her daughter, Miss Nina Winthrop, left for Paris, France, via air, on Monday, July 27. After a stay in Paris, they will fly to Ireland to attend the Dublin Horse Show.

The trip should be made in high spirits as Mrs. Randolph's 6-year-old chestnut gelding Mahoon, by Menow—*Khadija, by *Mahmoud was a winner on Thursday, July 24 at Randall Park, and her Blue Ghost was conformation hunter champion at the P. H. A. Show at Warrenton.

Dr. A. C. Randolph, her husband, Joint-Master of Piedmont Foxhounds, also had two winners recently. On July 23 his bay 3-year-old filly Gina, by Ginobi —Good News, by *Happy Argo, won the 6th race at Randall Park and the following day Ready Now, a 2-year-old chestnut colt by Ginobi—Kissmenow, by Menow was a winner.

F. Ambrose Clark of Westbury, Long Island, (seated), and E. J. Rousuck, well-known collector of sporting paintings and proprietor of Scott & Fowles, the merger of which with Wildenstein & Company has just been announced.

CHANGES HANDS

The Bert Bowens up Connecticut way have been having an excellent show season with their chestnut gelding, Mr. O'Malley. Having chalked up quite an array of championships for the Bowens, Mr. O'Malley will now compete for another stable. He was recently purchased by Mrs. Oliver D. Appleton.

Morning Inspection of Yearlings At Saratoga By Vaughn Flannery

Vaughn Flannery's work as an artist stems from the French impressionists, rather than from the English equestrian portrait school, from Manet rather than from Ferneley. He has painted several series of his race track impressions—notably of Pimlico and of Saratoga—as well as of the stud farms of Kentucky's blue grass region. His particular preoccupation is with design and with the effects of light.

The picture on our cover shows the morning inspection of yearlings at Saratoga which takes place at the time of the Fasig-Tipton Company's auction sales, usually held during the second week of the August meeting. Flannery has captured admirably the atmosphere of the scene, the shafts of light which filter down through the elm trees, the burnished gloss of the youngsters' coats which continual grooming has brought to a high polish, the careful but still leisurely inspection of prospective purchasers, the dark rows of stalls in the background. Race meetings have been held since 1863 at Saratoga which for many years previously had been a fashionable watering place. Somehow the days of picnics and coaching parties, of Canfield's Casino and Lillian Russell are still part of the present day tempo—which is singularly unhurried by comparison with most of modern American life. This quality, together with the emphasis on racing as a sport, is responsible for the continual return, year after year, of those who are most devoted to the Thoroughbred horse—owners, breeders, trainers—rather than to a new way of making a fast buck. Since Mr. Flannery has himself operated a successful stud farm, he understands all these things better than most artists. With that understanding he has painted one of his most successful canvasses.

SHEEPSHEAD BAY SALES

At the recent Keeneland yearling sales conversation turned to sales of the past, more particularly those held at the turn of the century at the old Sheepshead Bay track on Long Island. The ever young Tom Piatt, of Lexington a consignor of 5 yearlings on July 27, recalled that he had sold several crops of yearlings at Sheepshead Bay, beginning about 1904. These were the offspring of mares which the late Col. Milton Young bought at the dispersal sale of General William Harding Jackson's Belle Meade Stud, Nashville, Tennessee, and placed with Mr. Piatt to breed on shares. Not to be outdone Dion Kerr of Upperville, Virginia, who came to the sales to advise Milton Ritzenberg of Berryville, Virginia, on the purchase of yearlings for the latter's North Hill stable, told of several purchases which he had made at Sheepshead Bay. Among these was an undersized filly which no one seemed to want and which fell to Mr. Kerr for $150.—the only bid. After the sale he turned her over to Dick Carman at the same figure. As Lady Barbary she turned out to be one of the best of her year, winning many stakes. Not to be outdone by the older generation on the subject of Sheepshead Bay, Mr. Ritzenberg told how his father had bought the track, after racing there had ceased, and had turned it into a housing development—sic transit gloria mundi.

Here's Charlie! Mrs. Libby Swift and Charlie have been in the show rings in California but no picture has been used of the pair. Even though Charlie bucked his owner off recently and broke three ribs for her, no break up has been contemplated.

RICHARD ATKINSON, SR.

The saddest news to come out of the Rose Tree Hunt territory in many summers was the announcement of the death of Richard (Uncle Dick) Atkinson, Sr., owner of Grandview Farm, near Media, Pa. Mr. Atkinson, father of former steeplechase jockeys (now trainers) Alex Atkinson and Dick Atkinson, Jr., (the latter of Oak Springs Farm, White Horse, Pa., in the Radnor Hunt area) died in a Philadelphia hospital several weeks ago after he suffered a chest injury while climbing into a truck on his farm.

Mr. Atkinson made many trips to Ireland during his lifetime to purchase hunters for friends and clients, members of the Rose Tree Hunt and other hunt organizations. The kindnesses he extended to poor and wealthy alike and the help he gave so many young riders will never be forgotten.

Each year for the past ten Mr. Atkinson turned over the use of Grandview Farm for the Media Horse Show which benefitted the Media Boy Scouts.

Though he once ran the biggest public stables in this area, for the past several years Mr. Atkinson had turned over much of his work to his son Alex. Standing at Grandview Farm now, and managed by Alex, is *Delhi II, grey 1942, owned by William P. Foley. *Delhi II, excellent Thoroughbred or hunter sire prospect, is the winner of 12 races in Chile and Venezuela.

Mr. Atkinson's passing is mourned by all those who knew and loved him—and the list is long. —H. C. C.

24 YEARS YOUNG

There were many prospective buyers on the morning of July 27 at the Keeneland sales who asked Philip Connors of Middleburg, Virginia to have his chestnut colt by Mr. Busher pulled out for inspection. This colt is out of Late Date (by *Hourless) a good stakes winner herself and dam of War Date (by War Admiral), winner of the Arlington Matron, the Beldame, the Ladies' Handicap and other stakes. . . . Since Late Date was foaled in 1929, it was observed that the mare was 23 when she dropped the colt in question. Mr. Connors volunteered the information that the mare still looked as well as she ever had, and that she had a fine filly foal by Mr. Busher at foot this year which would be retained to race and as an eventual broodmare prospect. He also noted that the dam of Mt. Marcy was 26 when she dropped that good race horse. Apparently the age of his dam didn't hurt the Connors colt any, since that afternoon he brought $12,000, being knocked down to Mr. W. Welch.
